Dear Reader

Welcome to ERYICA's annual report 2019!

First of all, I would like to thank all of our members, partners and stakeholders for our fruitful cooperation throughout the year 2019! This annual report gives us a deep overall view and detailed information about everything carried out over the last year. The ERYICA Members, Governing Board and Secretariat have shown once again what we can do together. The activity report is proof that we really believe in our work and our mission: to offer quality information to all young people!

I am extremely happy with the backbone of our work: The Strategic Plan 2018 – 2023. It has been and still is a really useful tool for all of us, and guides us to make quality and sustainable decisions and choices. ERYICA's Strategic Plan is the course of action that guides the achievements of the organisation's strategy and mission. In 2020, we will have a mid-term review of the Strategy.

The present activity report is organised according to the Plan's Strategic Directions:

1) Capacity building, 2) Research, Trends and Innovations, 3) Quality and Youth Information Ethics and 4) Co-operation and Policy Advocacy. It also presents all of the activities and projects done in 2019. I hope you will take the time to have a closer look at the content; a huge amount of quality work has been done and the work continues with you.

2019 has been my fourth year as President of ERYICA. Every year our members support me to continue in this role. A very warm thanks to you all! I truly believe in the work we do together, and this is the very strength of our organisation. It drives our success and ensures quality results. Together we are more than one member or elected board; we can change things for the future of young people through offering professional, quality youth information services and involving them every step of the way.

The future can be influenced because it is shaped by our acts and choices in the present. Actions for better, quality youth information services for all young people should be taken every day. The future does not arrive readymade; we make the future together. I know that our members and stakeholders make sustainable decisions so the future of young people and youth information services are supported, and will continue to be supported, at European and national level.

One of our duties is to engage young people in participation and dialogue. Preserving our European values in the post-truth era implies enhancing critical thinking and media and information literacy skills and ensuring all young people have access to unbiased, understandable and reliable information.

This is exactly what youth information and counselling is all about: youth-friendly information for young people and with young people.

I would like to offer my thanks to our members and once more warmly welcome the new ERYICA members who joined us in 2019. My warm thanks also to our partners and stakeholders for their significant cooperation and support to our work.

As the President of ERYICA and on behalf of the Governing Board, I would like to express my gratitude to the Secretariat for their successful and hard work! 2019 has been a productive year in many ways and we have reached all the goals set in 2019 and more. The year has been exciting and absolutely great!

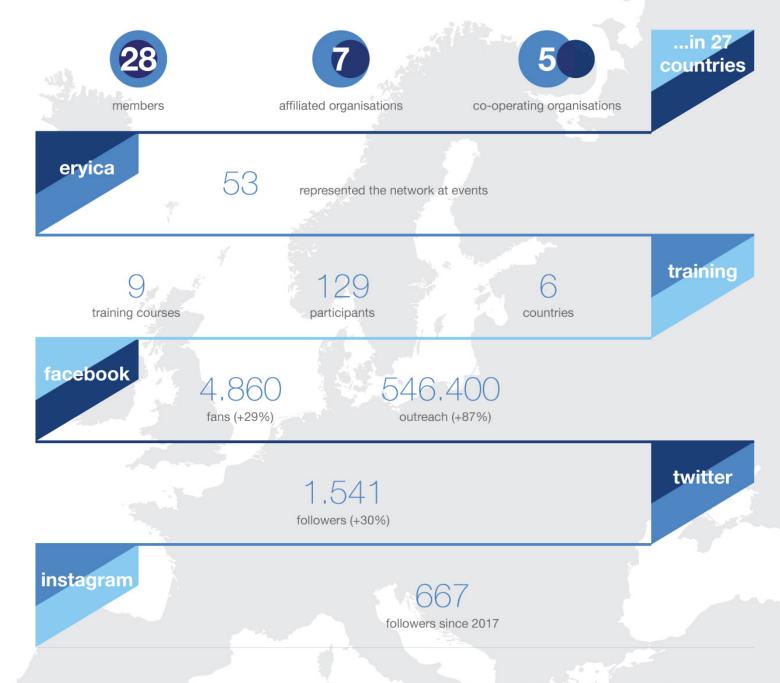

Best regards.

What is Youth Information?

Enabling greater access to independence.

Youth information and counselling seeks to inform and accompany young people on the delicate path to adulthood; a transitory and challenging period. In this relatively short time, young people are expected to make a myriad of important decisions that will no doubt highly influence their future. These first-time decisions need to be based on unbiased, complete and comprehensive information. Often faced with dilemmas, young people turn to various sources of information, a very important one of these being youth information and counselling services.

Generalist youth information and counselling work covers all topics that interest young people, and can include a whole spectrum of activities. The term "youth information and counselling" can encompass a wide range of services and activities, such as informing, counselling, supporting, coaching, training, peer-to-peer, networking, or referral to specialised services. The services can be set in different frameworks and provided by many different actors through various media. The essential aim of youth information and counselling is to engage and empower young people by guiding them in their autonomous decision-making. It builds on the fact that it is not possible to make a sound decision without knowing one's options and alternatives. Youth information aims to quarantee the right of young people to full and reliable information.

Youth Information aims (among other objectives) to:

- Provide reliable, unbiased, accurate and youth-friendly information;
- Facilitate access to different sources and channels of information;
- Give an overview of options available on topics relevant to young people;
- Help young people to navigate the information overload of modern day society;
- Ensure that young people know their rights, services available and how to access them:
- Support young people in evaluating the available information and its quality;
- Guide young people to find the best options available to them and make their own decisions;
- Offer different channels of communication and dialogue to directly support young people in their search for information and knowledge; and
- · Educate in media and information literacy.

Finding your place in society.

The aim of youth information and counselling is not only to meet the needs of the general public – its principal objective – but also to anticipate their needs and prepare preventative measures accordingly. Some of these needs will relate to key issues in society, notably physical and mental health, highrisk behaviour, interpersonal relationships, discrimination, citizenship, active participation in society and access to social rights. Only by being adequately informed about one's rights and duties is it possible to find a place in society and be a well-informed citizen.

Creating an information culture.

Today, young people are inundated with information and exposed to a wide variety of different media. This access to information is unprecedented, and having access to such a variety of media sources brings with it a previously unseen tendency for people to want to create their own media content, often in a personal and uncontrolled manner. In order to be a conscious citizen, it is important that one looks at this content critically, evaluating the quality, reliability, strategy and interest of those producing the information. In this context, youth information and counselling services take on a new aim; to educate young people on media and information literacy.

What is ERYICA?

The European Youth Information and Counselling Agency (ERYICA) is an independent, international, non-governmental and non-profit association composed of national and regional youth information coordination bodies and networks. Strategic Plan 2018-2023

A Strategic Plan is the course of action that guides the achievements of an organisation's strategy and mission. The 29th General Assembly of ERYICA approved the 6-year Strategic Plan for the period 2018-2023. Up until then, ERYICA's Strategic Plan had always been established in 3-year periods, which is a short timeframe to implement plans and draw conclusions for the next one. Therefore, the decision was made to extend this period and to foresee a mid-term review of the strategy in place.

The purpose of the Strategic Plan for this period is to:

- · Ease the definition of each annual Work Programme and ensure that it follows the strategy;
- · Facilitate the design, implementation, and monitoring of activities and projects; and
- Simplify the preparation of measurable and comparable Activity Reports.

Therefore, ERYICA's Strategic Plan does not only identify the priorities of the Agency, but it also guides the initiatives described in each annual Work Programme, which constitute the basis of the Activity Reports during this period.

The present Activity Report is organised according to the Plan's Strategic Directions, and presents the activities and projects developed in 2019 in line with this structure. The present report is opening the implementation of the strategy for the next 6-year cycle.

Strategic Directions

Strategic Direction 1: Capacity-building

Youth information workers should be adequately skilled and resourced in order to support young people in a professional manner. The exchange of good practices and participation in training activities are milestones in the provision of quality youth information services. Youth information work shall likewise support young people in their own search for accurate and reliable information. It must provide them with the necessary skills to act as responsible and active citizens.

Strategic Direction 2: Research, Trends and Innovation

Youth information and counselling services need to explore innovative ways to empower young people by seizing the opportunities offered by emerging trends and new media. Youth information services need to be up-to-date and familiar with progressive and innovative practices, research outcomes and communication technologies in order to ensure their quality and effective outreach to young people.

Activities

Representatives from Eurodesk, EYCA and ERYICA at the 3 networks training seminar, Palma de Mallorca, November

Supporting the development of innovative services in order to address the information needs of young people and to reach them where they are

In the framework of the Youth.Info: Future Youth Information Toolbox, three innovative youth information tools were piloted and created throughout 2019. The first ERYICA training on eParticipation took place, it aimed to encourage youth eParticipation through youth information (see Strategic Direction 1). The project DesYlgn: Innovative Youth Information Service Design and Outreach launched with focus group discussions across 4 countries. The DesYlgn Working Group also began developing a toolkit and an eLearning course, which will be continued throughout 2020. The project uses Service Design as an innovative method to rethink how services are conceived and to create tools and resources to allow youth information workers to reach out to a maximum number of young people. See Projects below.

Raising awareness on trends and new media popular among young people

In the framework of the Youth.Info: Future Youth Information Toolbox project, a training course on Peer-to-peer in youth information work was finalised. This was carried out in cooperation with EPTO and Creativitas. See more in Projects.

In the framework of the 3 networks cooperation, ERYICA, Eurodesk and EYCA ran a training seminar entitled 'Enhancing Youth Services Promotion and Outreach', with a particular focus on digital tools and outreach youth work. See more in Projects.

Exchange of best practices on youth information work

Eurodesk, EYCA and ERYICA published the good practice booklet: Engage. Inform. Empower. A collection of best practices from the main European youth information and mobility networks on enhancing youth service promotion and outreach. This was an output from the 'Enhancing Youth Services and Promotion' project. The ePublication is divided into three different categories: reaching out to young people through outreach youth work, reaching out to young people through digital tools, and building youth workers' capacities. Read more about it in Projects.

ERYICA also supports Working Groups among different members within the network. In 2019, this included the Ibero-insular and French-speaking Working Groups. Read more under Internal Matters, Working Groups.

ERYICA survey on the state of the art in youth information and counselling – Mapping youth information in Europe

The last overview of youth information and counselling in Europe was completed in 2013/2014, in the framework of the CoE-ERYICA Partnership (Compendium on National Youth Information and Counselling Structures). In 2019, ERYICA started mapping the youth information centres and services existing in Europe, in the framework of the biannual part of the Members' Survey. The data gathered was mainly related to youth information services under the ERYICA umbrella and it will be processed in 2020.

Partnering with researchers on youth issues and media and information studies to ensure research-based policy-making and practice

In the framework of the Future Youth Information Toolbox project, ERYICA continued with the promotion of the study: Future Youth Information and Counselling: Building on Information Needs and Trends. The aim was to study information behaviour and experiences with youth information and counselling services of both users and non-users of the services. The Manual for Foresight in Youth Information, as well as the Executive summary: Future Youth Information Toolbox foresight activities looking into youth information work 2030, were also widely promoted. The report and the manual were translated into Spanish with the support of the Region of Madrid.

ERYICA is a member of the European Platform on Learning Mobility (EPLM), which aims to create a participatory space for exchange and cooperation between practitioners, researchers and policy makers. Read more under Strategic Direction 4.

Further activities under this Strategic Direction included:

- Participating in research project proposals dealing with youth policy and addressing the Strategic Directions and thematic priorities of ERYICA;
- Disseminating the research results from the MOVE project, running a workshop during the European Week of Regions and Cities in October 2019; and
- Promoting the DesYIgn Focus Group Interview Research results at different moments and events throughout the year.

DesYlgn kick-off meeting, March, Luxembourg

The aim of this project is to rethink how services are designed and to create tools and resources to allow youth information workers to reach out to a maximum number of young people. In order to do this, youth information providers need to be trained on new channels and tools, and on how to design their services in a user-centred and innovative manner to appeal and reach out to more young people. This project uses service design methodologies and desk research. The service design is approached from a human-driven way of design thinking and doing. It starts from the needs and requirements of users and looks for solutions together with providers, users and other stakeholders.

The specific aims of the project are:

- To carry out focus group interviews to gain in-depth knowledge about young people's experiences with youth information services:
- To create a toolkit on service design for youth information provision, aiming to reach out to more young people, including quality indicators and measures;
- To create an eLearning course, to be implemented into the ERYICA training system, based on the toolkit; and

 To carry out innovative youth information design pilots that will test the resources developed at different stages and help re-think youth information provision using service design methods, which can be used as good practice examples for youth information services across Europe.

At the end of the project in 2021, regional and national multiplier events will be organised by all of the partner organisations. This will be tailored for political awareness-building at local, national and European level for the further support of youth information services in participating countries, and to highlight the importance of the promotion of these services.

In 2019, focus groups interviews were carried out across 4 countries in cooperation with partners: Agence Nationale pour l'Information des Jeunes (Luxembourg), Dirección General de Juventud y Deportes de Madrid (Spain), ProMo Cymru (Wales, UK), Aġenzija Żgħażagħ (Malta), and Institut Valencià de la Joventut (Spain). A total of 37 young people took part in the interviews, and the research report was developed in 2019 and published in early 2020. The Working Group also began working on the toolkit and online course, and the work will continue in 2020.

Youth.Info: Future Youth Information Toolbox – Erasmus+ KA2

Youth.Info: Future Youth Information Toolbox Final Event, Vilnius, March

Duration:

01/09/2017-30/04/2019

Coordination:

Creativitas (LT)

Partners:

ERYICA (LU), EPTO - European Peer Training Organisation (BE), Bundesnetzwerk Osterreichische Jugendinfos Verein (AT), Jugend- und Familienstiftung des Landes (JUP) Berlin (DE), Latvian Youth Council (LT), Youth Work Ireland (IE), and Abo Akademi (FI).

The overarching aim of this project was to increase the quality and outreach of youth information at local level by creating and applying user-friendly methods built on evidence-based youth information needs and involving peer-to-peer youth information educators.

The project was created due to the lack of evidence-based research in the field of youth information, which blocks the development of the sector. With this in mind, research was carried out to identify youth information needs, trends, and most relevant topics. The survey was based on an ERYICA survey which was carried out in 2013, and, perhaps most innovatively, used future foresight methodology to identify a strategic direction for youth information, something that has never been done before.

Throughout the project, the following research was conducted:

- Future Youth Information and Counselling:
 Building on Information Trends and Needs;
- Executive Summary of the Future Foresight activities; and
- · Manual for Foresight in Youth Information.

Using the results of the research and the future foresight, three user-friendly, evidence and future-based youth information methods were developed and piloted at local level, and are now available for use. They are:

- Parents' Evening: a LARP Game (on the theme of privacy and data protection);
- Everyone is employable (on the theme of employability); and
- Website: Opportunities Match (on the theme of youth mobility).

For the sustainability of the project, a peerto-peer training course was developed, and piloted in October 2018 in Berlin. The participants later organised local peer-to-peer training activities. The course will be further piloted with the aim of integrating it into the ERYICA training system from 2019.

In March 2019, a multiplier event was organised in Vilnius, Lithuania. This was tailored for political awareness building at local, national and European level for the further support of youth information services in participating countries, particularly those who require it the most.

Enhancing Youth Services and Promotion (3 networks) -Erasmus+

01/06/2019-29/02/2020

Coordination:

ERYICA (LU)

Partners:

EYCA (BE), Eurodesk (BE), SpunOut.ie (IE), Movijovem - Mobilidade Juvenil (PT), Andalusian Youth Institute (ES), City of Kuopio (FI), National Youth Card Association (BG), Institut Balear de la Joventut (IBJOVE, ES), Agencia Catalana de la Joventut (ACJ, ES), Agenzija Zghazagh (MT), Akzente Salzburg (AT), Mladiinfo (MK), Promo Cymru (UK), Polish Youth Projects Association (PL), Secretariat for Youth of Westpomerania Region (PL), Momentum World CIC (UK), PlanBe, Plan it Be it (CY)

ERYICA, EYCA and Eurodesk organised a common training event for their members based on their needs in gaining skills and knowledge about different ways of reaching out to young people. The training took place in November 2019 and addressed the needs of youth service structures in optimising the promotion and attractiveness of their services among young people and establishing efficient digital communication and outreach tools.

Participants were communication strategists, youth information workers, and professionals dealing with communication and marketing of youth services in the member organisations of the three networks. The programme included workshops on Artificial Intelligence and Fake News, Social Media Engagement, Digital Storytelling, Virtual Reality, and Communication Strategies, as well as the possibility for the participants to discuss and exchange on issues they face in their everyday work, and exchange best practices.

General Objectives:

- To discuss and evaluate the main aspects to consider when promoting youth work and youth information and counselling services among young people;
- To identify common challenges ahead in the development and promotion of youth information; and
- discuss possible solutions practices considering existing opportunities and tools.

project broadening aimed understanding of practices and policies in youth work internationally and at enhancing the modernisation and effectiveness of youth services.

The partners published the good practice Engage. Inform. Empower. A booklet: collection of best practices from the main European youth information and mobility on enhancing youth service networks promotion and outreach, including 25 good practices from 13 different countries across Europe.

Strategic Direction 3: Quality and Youth Information Ethics

Quality and ethics are fundamental aspects of youth work in general, and of youth information and counselling in particular. Youth information services operate on a human rights-based approach in their daily work. At the same time, quality youth information work enhances young people's autonomy by supporting their critical assessment of information and media outlets. This strategic direction seeks to frame youth information practices within a set of ethical principles and guidelines and to provide quality assessment mechanisms in a complex and changing environment.

Activities

Promotion and exploitation of the European Youth Information Charter

The new European Youth Information Charter, adopted by the 29th General Assembly of ERYICA, was introduced to all but one training manuals throughout the year. The number of translations reached 26, all available at eryica.org.

To further increase the implementation of the Charter principles, a Working Group compiled an explanatory brochure (see more details below).

The Working Group on the European Youth Information Quality Label also took the Charter as the foundation of awarding the future Quality Label and based its assessment tool on the Charter principles. Applicants for the Label, if they are not yet signatories of the Charter, will have to commit to it when they apply for the Label.

Adopting positive practices to promote and ensure young people's access to rights through reliable, complete and understandable information

In the course of 2019, a Working Group made up of ERYICA experts prepared Ensuring Quality in Youth Information and Counselling brochure in order to provide practical tips for the implementation of the new Charter to increase its outreach, and to support the future Quality Label applications. This user-friendly document gives practical ideas for the implementation of the Charter principles, showcases good practices and includes testimonies of young users of youth information services. It was developed in the framework of the Partnership between ERYICA and the Council of Europe (see Projects below).

The brochure is a good tool to contribute to putting these important principles into practice and further increase the quality of the provision of youth information in Europe and beyond. The brochure was published and printed at the end of 2019.

Encouraging our members to develop and apply quality management mechanisms and resources

Members are advised to apply ERYICA's Quality Management tool in the operation of youth information centres. A major further measure to apply quality management mechanisms will be the European Quality Label for Youth Information and Counselling (see Projects below).

Establishing a framework for ERYICA Youth Ambassadors

In the course of 2019, ERYICA has been exploring ways of creating a framework for Youth Ambassadors, who will become an integral part of the network, and ensure that the network remains focused on young people's priorities and needs. 2 current Youth Ambassadors were invited to attend the 30th General Assembly and run a workshop on this topic, in order to consult with the members and further develop the strategy for integrating Youth Ambassadors into the network. A Key Action 2 Erasmus+ proposal was submitted in winter 2020 for a 20-month project, including two training activities, one multiplier event and various other tasks, such as developing an online campaign and creating a MOOC on advocacy, that they should carry out as part of their mandate. This project will be carried out from autumn 2020.

Designing a European Quality Label for Youth Information

The development of a European Youth Information Quality Label for the youth information sector in Europe has started in the framework of the Grant Agreement with the Council of Europe in 2019 (see Strategic Direction 4). The first year of the planned two-year process has produced promising outcomes, including a draft assessment tool, and found preliminary answers to the major questions regarding the management and sustainability of the Label. European Youth Information Quality Label Working Group Meeting Brussels, June

The ERYICA Strategic Plan 2018-2023 underlines the necessity of creating a European Youth Information Quality Label, easy to recognise by young people and designed to help them address the overload of information.

In this context, the partnership between the Council of Europe and ERYICA aims at creating a European Youth Information Quality Label. ERYICA created a working group who has been working during 2019 and produced the following outcomes:

- Collection of existing resources for quality assessment/management in youth information (YI) in a desk research report;
- Setting up of a Working Group on the European Youth Information Quality Label; definition of the group's mandate;
- 3 meetings of the Working Group that developed the assessment tool and the management plan, as well as made recommendationsforcreating a sustainable structure for the implementation.
- Production of an assessment tool for the awarding of the Label;

- Workshop during the ERYICA General Assembly;
- Open Dialogue Day with youth information providers across CoE member states and involving different stakeholders of the Label;
- Survey among youth information providers across Europe about the planned structure of the Label;
- Production of a proposal for the management and sustainability of the Label:
 - Drawing up the Terms of Reference for a Task Force managing the Label process;
 - Production of Ensuring Quality in Youth Information and Counselling-Practical tips for implementing the European Youth Information Charter brochure.

The process will continue in 2020 with the piloting of the initiative, its fine-tuning, design of the label and dissemination. The label will be ready for use by youth information centres in Europe in 2021.

I'm Voting – A Guide to the European Elections 2019

At the beginning of 2019, ERYICA partnered with our Belgian member, Fédération Infor Jeunes Wallonie-Bruxelles, to produce a brochure to inform young people about the importance of voting in the 2019 European elections. This brochure was written in French and translated into English. The purpose was to provide objective, reliable and accessible information about the elections, as with access to such information, young people can become active citizens and decision-makers, basing their participation and decisions on quality information and guidance.

The brochure details the Who, What, Where, Why and How for the elections. As well as the brochure, a social media campaign was created to give further visibility to the brochure and raise awareness through different channels and in different languages.

Our collaboration will be based on the endorsement of common policy goals, as well as the development of concrete projects and activities in priority areas. We will also seek to establish new strategic synergies, that aim to mainstream youth information and to reach out to more young people.
